

Call for papers: Law & Olympism "Genesis of Olympism, Principles and Governance"

In order to reinforce the dynamics initiated within the University of Franche-Comté around the issue of Olympism with the creation in December 2019 of the first french University Olympic Studies and Research Centre (CEROU), a call for papers is launched with the University of Franche-Comté Legal Research Centre (CRJFC EA 3225) which aims to expose the genesis of the Olympic movement, its institutional framework, its founding principles, its boundaries (new sports practices) and its current mode of governance.

As the Games of the XXXII Olympiad have just ended, the University of Franche-Comté is once again wearing the colours of Olympism with this forthcoming publication Law & Olympism "Genesis of Olympism, principles and governance" coordinated by Éric Monnin, Director of the Centre for Olympic Studies and Research (CEROU) and by Béatrice Lapérou-Schneider, Director of the Centre de recherches juridiques de l'Université de Franche-Comté (CRJFC) of the University of Franche-Comté.

Several topics can be covered: origin and legal framework - national legal framework - governance and borders of Olympism... in order to better understand the genesis of the Olympic movement, its institutional framework, its founding principles, its borders (new sports practices) and its current mode of governance.

The French language has contributed and continues to contribute to this sporting, intellectual, educational, artistic and linguistic influence and to convey these values.

Submission of the abstract

Length of the abstract: between 1,500 and 2,000 characters (including spaces) with an indicative bibliography. It should also include your full name, address, telephone number, titles and professional address.

It should be sent by e-mail to: eric.monnin@univ-fcomte.fr before 30 June 2022.

Return of abstract evaluations: July 2022

Submission of the article

If the abstract is accepted, the article will be between 20,000 and 45,000 characters long (including spaces) with the bibliography. It should be sent before 30 September 2022 to eric.monnin@univ-fcomte.fr

Return of the evaluations of the article by the scientific committee: October 2022

Deadlines

- ✓ Deadline for sending the abstract: 30 June 2022
- ✓ Return of the evaluations of the abstract: July 2022

- ✓ Date for sending the article: 30 September 2022
- ✓ Return of article evaluations: October 2022

The article can be written in French, English and Spanish.

This publication will be part of the Collection Les cahiers d'études olympiques directed by Éric MONNIN at Désiris Editions.

Contact

Éric MONNIN

Vice-President of the University of Franche-Comté Representative for Olympism

Director of the Centre for University Olympic Studies and Research (CEROU)

Associate Professor (Ph. D – HDR)

Tél. + 33 (0)6.02.50.12.43 eric.monnin@univ-fcomte.fr

<https://cerou.univ-fcomte.fr>